FORTY-FIRST YEAR, NO. 47

STRAWBERRY CROP FOR HANCOCK CO. NEXT SEASON PROMISING

County Agent Bryson Speaker Before Bay St. Louis Rotary Club—Tells of Present Plans and Future Possibilities—To Ship Through Picayune.

Because of inability to properly finance the work, only eighty acres of land planted in strawberries are officially reported according to figures given by County Agent R. H. Bryson, of Hancock, in an address before the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday noon at the Hotel Weston.

Last year there were four hundred and fifty acres planted, with every promise of result that would have meant money to Hancock County farmers, but with the late freeze of March 10, every hope was blasted.

There was a partial recovery of the crop in thirty days, said Mr. Bryson, and in the meantime, berries from other more fortunate sections had been shipped as early crop and at fancy top-notch prices.

However, the future for Hancock county is promising, it was stated, for the reason it is now apparent organized finance assistance would be forthcoming from the government in due time.

The present crop of berries, which it is planned to ship through co-operative offices at Picayune, will bring maximum prices and subsequently abundant returns to the farmers.

The success of the berry crop in Hancock county, Mr. Bryson said, was assured. By test and experimentation, he said, both soil and climate were contributory to producing a better berry and an earlier one than elsewhere.

He said the berry growers in Hancock county on extensive scale would mean the operating a box factory and possibly other kindred industries. Farmers of Hancock are keen to the possibilities of growing strawberries and that next year, with more experience and better financial assistance the dawn of a new industry and added prosperity would be for Hancock county. Great things are accomplished from small beginnings, and to this rule the strawberry as a new crop is no exception.

M'CLANE CITY NITE CLUB TO OPEN SATURDAY

Supper and Dance Club To Cater to New Orleans and Gulf Coast Patrons.

The McClane City Club, located on Highway 90, between the Ridges Bridge and Sildell, La., opens on the night of Saturday, November 19th, and promises to be "The South's Most Wonderful Supper Club." In every detail, Mr. J. S. McClane, under whose direct supervision the club is to be operated, has spared neither expense nor trouble to procure the best to be had.

The McClane City orchestra under the direction of Harold Jordy is the latest word in dance music. Each member is an artist on his particular instrument. Besides being a thoroughly schooled musician, Jordy is recognized in music circles as an outstanding dance band leader, having filled engagements at some of the prominent clubs and hotels of the country which include the Frotis Club, Miami, Fla.; Chase Hotel, St. Louis, Mo.; Piedmont Grill, Atlanta, Ga.; and many others too numerous to mention.

The elaborate floor show which opens at the McClane City Club on the 19th promises to be a sensation. Eddie Mack, the Dancing Master of Ceremonies, has produced a wonderful ensemble of talent. Mack comes direct from the Trivoli Club, Chicago. The chorus and principals of the review to be staged is comprised of outstanding and pulchritudinous talent.

Mr. McClane has been very fortunate in procuring the services of one of the country's foremost Maître d'Hotel, who will have entire supervision of food service. Barbecued chicken, pork, and beef will be the featured cuisine of the club bill of fare.

The ball room with its three layer Wisconsin maple hardwood dance floor, which has been finished as a solid sheet of black ebony, will do light the feet of its patrons. The velvet drapes, the domed silver ceiling, the varied colored light effects, all go to add to the enchantment of this palatial supper club.

The McClane City Night Club will cater to New Orleans and Gulf Coast patrons as well as to intermediate points. See advertisement elsewhere in this issue of The Echo.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

FAIR GIVEN LAST THURSDAY A SUCCESS.

S. J. A. Extends Thanks to All. Everything seemed dead and uninteresting this Monday at S. J. A. after the excitement and hustle and bustle of last week, and if the new rings and pins hadn't appeared on the scene we would have almost felt as we do when we return after the thrilling Christmas holidays.

Now, however, we feel fully repaid for our strenuous exertions during the pre-Fair days for the results of the affair have justified our efforts.

The programs both that of the Grammatix Grades and of the High School, seemed to have been enjoyed by all and judging by the favorable comments which have been coming to us since the Fair, the plays and numbers between acts must have deserved the approval and commendation of all who witnessed them.

Having done our best to make these programs worth while, it is gratifying to know that our feeble though very willing efforts were not in vain.

P. T. A.'s Staging of Women's Wedding Proves Hit of Evening.

The most amusing and popular part of the program, however, was its last number, "The Women's Wedding." Never was anything as funny so skillfully and more successfully staged at S. J. A. The wedding was carried completely through even to the minister and the

The hospitality of the people we met at Vicksburg shall never be forgotten. We were more than ordinarily well received and the cordiality and warmth was such as to breathe genuine sincerity."

Deputy Grand Knight Arceneaux also gave expression to the same sentiment. The trip to and fro was pleasant and the distance covered in little better than five hours each way, it was stated.

However, the city fire department was promptly on the scene in response to the fire alarm and soon in readiness.

The fire is supposed to have originated from a fire connecting a basement furnace that had been in operation two days, it was stated.

Losses comparatively small, is fully covered by insurance, Mr. Rea stated, amounting to probably $100. Geo. Heitzman discovered the fire.

HANCOCK FARMERS TO PLANT MORE

Meeting at Courthouse Saturday Morning Attracts Many

There were quite a gathering of Hancock County farmers engaged in strawberry growing at the courthouse Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock, pursuant to a call issued by County Agent Bryson of Hancock County.

The main object of the meeting was the discussion of the subject of perfecting a co-operative marketing association along with filing applications for crop loans through the regional agricultural credit association at Jackson, Miss.

County Agent Bryson advised the growers to plant a heavy acreage and said that with intelligent marketing to follow nothing but most fruitful results would follow.

Hancock County was represented from various sections and it was evident more strawberries would be planted in Hancock County this season than ever. This will be the first year the work will be co-ordinated with organized and county authority and by such systematic and intelligent method should prove a success and be the means of directing to this section thousands of dollars that otherwise would never find way to local channels.

LEGION HAS FINE CIVIC PARADE

Armistice Day Duly Observed in Hancock County

Inspired by the tenacity of patriotism, Armistice Day (last Friday), was observed in Bay St. Louis by the Hancock County Clement R. Bonham's Post, American Legion.

A civic parade, headed by the municipal band, and members of various organizations added the beauty and impressiveness to the line of march. Particularly effective was the sight of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts marching in time to the strains of martial and general patriotic music. Ladies wearing the uniforms of the Legion Auxiliary gave colorful and interesting appearance.

Following the parade a musical and literary program was presented at Bay Central High School at which time and place, former Senator Carl Marshall delivered the address of the occasion.

He dwelt on the fervor and patriotism of the men who volunteered to arms and who bled and died in order that others may live. He reviewed the war and the prior events and those that subsequently followed, and his tribute to the valor and patriotism of the men and women of the country was as beautiful as deserved.

W. B. Graham, commander of the local Post, officiated with becoming dignity and in that official and personal capacity that lent much success to the ceremony.

The membership shall consist of all the members of all the societies and contributing members, i. e., of the congregation who do not belong to any parish society.

Meeting closed with prayer by the president. During the social half hour, delicious sandwiches and hot chocolate were served by the hostesses.

A TRIBUTE.

ERNESTINE Neuhardt Morse, only child of Judge and Mrs. George Ernest Neuhardt, beloved wife of Stanford E. Morse, entered into rest November 10th, 1932, Gulfport, Miss.

Ernestine, a girl of unusual vision.

Alive, intense, magnetic, with an easy forceful manner, full of laughter, and love, yet serious beyond her years. No day was ever lived as just another day, each day was set apart of an infinite plan and lived as such. A girl of splendid perception, no one ever came nearer to the deep heart and soul of things. Seldom did she speak of the past, her eyes seemed always to behold the stars. Was ever one so loyal, so understanding, so entrancing?

God help us to push aside these dark clouds that we may see her beauty in the faces of her two, laughing children, her purity in a perfect rose, her grace in little young trees, her strength in mighty oaks.

Clothe us in Thy spirit God, help us to live in Thee, that when we too, become tired and close our eyes in eternal sleep that we too, may see Thee face to face in a life everlasting.

MOTHERS' CLUB AT S. S. C.

There will be a meeting of Mothers' Club at St. Stanislaus at the college on the first Sunday in December, 11 o'clock and at 2 o'clock same afternoon, a benefit card party will take place for the organization. Bay St. Louis public and others are cordially invited.

UNCLE CHARLIE'S NITE CLUB HAS NEW ADDED FEATURES

Bay St. Louis Saturday Night Club Patrons to Enjoy Various Features.

Uncle Charlie's Nite Club last Saturday had its usual quota number of patrons enjoying the music and dance featured every Saturday night. However, last Saturday the management added extra features that were unusually well received.

Miss Evelyn Miller sang popular ballads and Miss Josie Starita, of this city, entertained with equal success in vocal numbers. Joe Gilbert and Emile Manieri, in their solos and duet numbers were repeatedly encored.

For this Saturday night patrons will enjoy the unusual sight of a juvenile party. That is it will be the proper thing to come dressed in boy or girl costume and the fact that a number of patrons have banded and will be present in juvenile costume always assures such program.

The Thanksgiving party will take place on the Saturday night following Thanksgiving. Announcement for this event will be made later.

Women's Missionary Society Meeting Held Tuesday Afternoon

The regular monthly meeting of Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held Tuesday at three o'clock, in the home of Mrs. R. B. Koch, on Carroll avenue, with Mrs. A. E. Joyner as co-hostess.

Mrs. J. C. Buckley, the president presided. Meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. W. A. McDonald.

After completion of all business, the devotional was led by Mrs. C. M. Shipp, subject, "Finding God in Jesus Christ."

An appropriate song, "Can The World See Jesus in You?", was sung sweetly, rendered by Mrs. Henry Osoinach, with Miss Eloise Whitfield as accompanist.

A leaflet, "The Woman's Missionary Society in China," was interestingly given by Mrs. F. J. Nelson.

The society unanimously offered its services to the Red Cross organization for garment cutting.

Meeting closed with prayer by the president. During the social half hour, delicious sandwiches and hot chocolate were served by the hostesses.

WINTER HAZARDS.

WINTER hazards on the highways make automobile driving more dangerous than at any other time of the year. The short days increase night driving, bad weather coupled with cold temperatures affect drivers and pedestrians and the condition of the highways and the mechanical condition of the automobiles themselves.

While preliminary figures for 1932 indicate that the number of persons killed by motor vehicle accidents will be less than the 35,000 killed in 1931, there is reason for every driver of motor vehicles, and pedestrians as well, to be especially vigilant during the next one hundred days.

The calm acceptance of the annual death toll through motor vehicle accidents is amazing. While the education of the public to traffic hazards and the adoption of effective control measures present the possibility of reduced death tolls, too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the necessity for some rigorous investigation into the causes of accidents, with proper penalties for those guilty of negligence.

WHAT ABOUT THIS?

ABOUT two and one-half years ago, the United States Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution opposing "the use of government funds in providing capital for the operation of agricultural activities and for the buying and selling of commodities for the purpose of attempted stabilization."

One of the pet projects of this organization is the elimination of Government from business. Its position in regard to using funds to help agriculture seems to be very plainly stated. We wonder what position has been taken by it in regard to the use of government funds to help insurance companies, railroads, banks and other large corporations.

EXPECT REGULATION.

ONE result of the Insull debacle has been the collapse of the efforts of public utility companies to avoid government regulation.

The news is that many utilities have stopped their propaganda and fired their powerful publicity men.

Few citizens in the United States have the slightest idea of the extent and effectiveness of the underhanded propaganda which for years has flooded the country from the pens of the public utility magnates. They have stopped at nothing in their effort to prevent the growth of the idea of public operation of public utility plants and their campaigns have been marked by misrepresentations, spread in large measure through agents secretly subsidized by them.

WILL THE GOVERNOR HEED.

IT is generally hoped, and the expression comes from all sections of the State, that Governor Conner will call a special session of the Legislature in order that the same arrangement for paying of State and county tax may prevail as in the past season.

People are less able generally to pay the tax stipend in lump sum than last year and if there was a time when assistance was needed it is now. It is hoped Governor Conner will see fit to pay heed to the call of the people and see that the desired relief or plan of payment is forthcoming. We are of the opinion that the Governor in time will answer the petition.

It's time to be thankful, whether you realize it or not.

Exaggerations make up most of the arguments you hear.

Local advertisers are advised that now is the time to start that Christmas selling campaign.

Who can remember the old days when a long walk on a Sunday afternoon was considered recreation?

Beer and wine will not bring back prosperity but the business operations incidental thereto will prove an asset of incalculable benefit.

Chicago announces the proposal of the immediate building of a million-dollar brewery since the recent Democratic landslide which spells beer and wine.

Senator Pat Harrison is quoted as saying President-elect Roosevelt should not sit with President Hoover in any conference over the foreign debt question and make any commitments, even though the conference is to be strictly personal and informal. But says Roosevelt could not have turned down the invitation from the President. That resolves to common decency.

Gulfport is naturally jubilant over the fact a new warehouse and other major facilities for the port are to be built at once, thus insuring the care of new business and inviting shipping. Gulfport is on the threshold of great things just now and it is no wonder the spirit of the people of that community is such as to be indicative of great things ahead.

SIGNIFICANT MEETING.

APPEALING to the constructive element of Hancock county a meeting of a number of farmers at the courthouse Saturday morning, presided over by County Agent Bryson, is more than of ordinary import.

As an economic measure it was both timely and well taken. It has been proven time and again by actual test, strawberries do not only grow as well as elsewhere where they do best, but mature, it is said, two weeks earlier and with command better price and prove to the grower a more-profitable product of the local soil.

It was proven and actually demonstrated in Hancock county last season that the strawberry not only grew well and produced fruit of quality and size to the maximum extent, but exceeded that grown in localities not remote from here and of reputation.

The meeting held in Bay St. Louis Saturday, headed by County Agent Bryson, was for the purpose of affecting that essential and qualification so necessary to success—that of organization and working in co-operative endeavor. The individual can practically do nothing. It requires concerted action as Saturday's meeting of Hancock county farmers suggested. May we now look forward to a crop of strawberries in Hancock county this spring that will not only test and prove the worthiness of our soil, but one that will bring thousands of dollars to local channels each year and prove of recurrent value?

HARDSURFACING O. S. T. FINISHED.

RECENT completion of hard-surfacing O. S. T. highway between La-Miss. state line at Pearl river and Bay St. Louis, superseding a dangerous stretch of some nigh forty miles of gravel road is an achievement. It has been long looked for and eagerly-anticipated, "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

However, now accomplished it seems, apparently at least, to be taken as a matter of course and little or nothing has been said in behalf of the efforts of the State Highway Commission and Hancock County Board of Supervisors co-operating. Prominent participant in this accomplishment was Commissioner J. F. Thamess, representing this section of the State.

Only this week final touches of this hard-surfaced highway were completed—at the Bay St. Louis terminus.

It is befitting that formal cognizance be taken of the work and that it be recorded, inscribed in terms of commendation and due credit to whom credit is due.

It is a pity, however, that many lives had to be unduly sacrificed and many maimed for life before effective attention was called to a road that was well termed in these columns on one occasion as the "valley of death." Is there then not cause for jubilation? Reason for much satisfaction and occasion for congratulation?

BUILDING THE SHORT ROUTE.

IT is encouraging to note the rapid progress marking preliminary preparation for the building of the short-cut auto route from New Orleans to Bay St. Louis-Waveland and the balance of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Press dispatches from Washington this week tell the War Department has given permission for building of five major bridges. In fact the government has sanctioned the proposed cause of operation for immediate construction of the Short Cut Route, a saving of travel approximately of twenty-five miles each way over the present O. S. T. route.

In Louisiana swamps the work of surveying the route again in addition to the original and preliminary surveys is in process and employing a number of men.

Bids for first construction groups will be opened towards the latter part of November and it is expected that within a comparative short time we shall see actual construction begun of the long-looked for and long-cherished New Orleans-Gulf Coast Short Cut route.

Pearl River will profit appreciably by the building of the route since that place will be the scene of the bridge crossing Pearl River at the dividing state line and it is expected many new places of business incidental to highway thoroughfares will result.

BROADCASTING GROWS.

THE widespread radio broadcasting systems of the world are celebrating their twelfth anniversary this month—it was November 2, 1920 that the pioneer station, KDKA, went on the air at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to send out election bulletins. In a few months the "craze" was sweeping the country, with broadcasting stations springing up overnight and manufacturers unable to supply the frantic demands.

As public demand revealed the possibilities of the new instrument of communication, broadcasters began to wonder who was going to pay for the programs, which were beginning to prove expensive. Finally, the Western Electric Company, operation station WEAF, pondered the probability of renting the facilities of its plant. Consequently, on September 7, 1922 the first commercially sponsored program filtered through the air to the great consternation of many broadcasters who maintained that advertising contaminated the ether.

Today, the radio is threatening to crash the television field, with the same spectacular results that followed its sound broadcasts in 1920. The industry's best inventive genius is pushing work on this idea and no one can predict the magic that may intend.

WHAT WE EXPECT.

WHILE The Echo does not look for the improbable, this newspaper anticipates more than an ordinary share of expectancy from the incoming municipal administration for Bay St. Louis, January 1.

May we not look for gas for domestic purposes, a public pier that will attract thousands of visitors, who do not otherwise visit this section. These two as major improvements, and other minor betterments in order Bay St. Louis may be a better place to live in and where conditions may be bettered. The Echo has every confidence in the incoming administration.

SAUNTERINGS.
From Where The West Begins.JOHN T. MEYERS.
San Antonio, Texas.

THE national annual Roll Call membership drive of the American Red Cross began on November 14th, and will continue thru Thanksgiving Day. This great humanitarian organization needs no introduction to the American public. When and wherever disaster and suffering swoops down upon the heads of fellow humans, the never failing hand of mercy of the American Red Cross reaches out to aid, comfort, and protect the unfortunate victims. It has been fittingly termed—An Angel of Mercy.

Join your local Red Cross Chapter today. One dollar will make you a member. Donate more if you possibly can afford to do so. Wear the bright, cheerful, little button you will receive with just pride. It will mark you as one who takes the welfare of fellow humans less fortunately to heart.

The many San Antonio friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau bid them a hearty Adios, with sincerest wishes that these delightfully interesting Mississippi visitors will again return to the Alamo City mu pronto.

Pumpkins, cranberries, nuts, and fruit cakes are on display in nearly all the grocery stores. Turkeys strut about poultry yards with an air of caution. All of which proves that Thanksgiving Day lies not more than one week ahead. Turkey, the unusually popular Thanksgiving fowl is quoted at ten to eleven cents per pound on San Antonio produce markets.

Many punch boards offering one or more turkeys as prizes are in evidence at Cigar Stores and drug stores. Some lucky punchers will win their Thanksgiving bird for a dime. The rest of us will "donate" as the popular saying goes among the chance taking gentry. Anyway, Thanksgiving is a great day—if you don't happen to be on a diet.

Southwest Texas huntsmen are in the height of their sportive glory. Dove and quail seasons are open, and deer season begins at day break on Wednesday, November 16. Many hunters already have their kill spotted.

In this section of the country each licensed hunter is permitted two bucks a season. Hunting deer by night with use of headlights is strictly against the law, and punishable by a large fine. Unfortunately, there are many who resort to this unfair and unsportsman-like practice. Dogs are used by hunters of this stripe in hunting deer. This is also against the game laws in Texas.

The drone of an airplane overhead after dark somehow tends to suggest mystery and wonder. What prompts this particular flight, and destination might be it's goal? Perhaps intrigue and daring maps its course across the star-studded skies. Not unlikely its cockpit pit may be loaded with dope or liquor smuggled from Mexico across the Rio Grande to be cached in some isolated and barren region.

Recently, the black angle of death rode aboard an army hospital plane as it sped from Kelly Field toward Houston, Texas, in a desperate attempt to save the life of a little girl.

A certain serum was needed that could be secured only at Houston. As a last resort the dying child was placed in the plane, and a determined race with the grim reaper was on. After covering half the distance, the army doctor finally signaled to the pilot. His medical experience informed him that the fight was over. The plane headed back toward its starting point.

Politicians take heed. Young Americans are taking this political business seriously. They quote facts and figures like the grown-ups. The day after election a group of small boys were huddled together for an after school pow-wow. One bright-eyed chap was relating to his deeply interested companions the exact number of popular and electoral votes credited to President-elect Roosevelt by the latest newspaper edition.

There was even speculation as to which states the two candidates were likely to carry.

If this sort of thing continues, wise politicians will be including bedtime stories along with the usual mud-slinging tactics in future campaigns.

91% of All Human Ills Originate In Stomach

Failure to Supply Body With Essential Minerals Allows Excessive Acids to Destroy Health and Vitality.

Medical science, constantly searching for ways to prolong life, frequently come forward with startling statements of their findings, but no more astounding announcement has been made in recent years than the statement of an eminent Chemist who now declares that "There is no natural death. All deaths from so-called natural causes are merely the end point of progressive acid saturation."

TIMELY WARNING

An amazing statement indeed but a warning that if heeded, should improve the health and well being, increase the joy of living, and prolong the lives of millions of men, women and children who might otherwise drag through a weary life to an untimely end.

ACIDITY KILLS MILLIONS

Health authorities now agree that 91% of all diseases originate in the stomach and are caused by poor cooking, improper diet, and the eating of highly refined foods. Your doctor knows that the 11 essential Minerals and all Vitamins are contained in foods in their natural state and could be live with you constantly, carefully select and prepare everything you eat, you would never need medicines of any kind. This being impossible, science has been searching for years, trying to compound a formula that would make up for the

LOOKING AHEAD.

MANY problems confront our country at this time. They are national in scope, too numerous and too large for the farmers of Hancock County to undertake to clarify. Our first duty is to put our own house in order. With unstable market conditions prevailing for majority of farm products, and the farmer in many instances neglected to produce all the food and feed crops for his family and livestock which could have been grown on his farm. The failure to produce these crops might have been prompted by a feeling that a turn of 'lady luck' money would be plentiful and it would not be necessary to work to get it. There are some who have a feeling that our State or the Federal Government will legislate prosperity. If such is done, it will be a new departure to my past experience and observation. Our governmental bodies may do something to help stabilize markets, but until the farmer produces the products for which the market is created, he cannot hope to benefit by such legislation.

The situation in Hancock county would be quite different today, despite the world-wide economic conditions if a majority of the tillers of the soil had followed a balanced farm program—one which in addition to their general crop, included the cow, sow and hen, and all feed and food crops needed.

Before another year passes, feed for livestock on many farms will be an item unless a fall planting of oats or rye is made to provide grazing during the winter and early spring. Whether we like it or not, with all timber gone, we must acknowledge that the future prosperity of the county must come from agriculture, either from farm crops or livestock, unless oil or gas is discovered. Even then only a few individuals will be benefitted except as a source of cheap fuel.

Thirty or forty years ago when taxes were low and demands of the farm family were far less than today, it was probably all right to depend upon public work or sale of a small tract of timber to provide the cash needed, but conditions today are different. The demands are greater—higher taxes for better schools and good roads, the automobile and many other things requiring money. Whether we are here, could, or would have prevented this development, they are here, and we must meet the conditions. Believe it or not, the develop-

Side Qui Hurling, Got Stronger, Well; CARDUI Helped Her.

Mrs. R. L. West, of Huntsville, Ala., writes: "I was weak and run-down. I had a pain in my side, and I kept losing weight. I grew nervous over my condition—this was unusual for me, for I am very cheerful. When I am nervous, I ought to take something. My aunt told me I ought to try CARDUI, which I did. I began to feel better. I have lost weight, and I have had three or four bottles. My side quieted right and I was soon well again. CARDUI is sold at drug stores here."

"FAITHLESS" BIG FEATURE AT LOCAL THEATER WEEK-END

Tallulah Bankhead Co-Star With Robert Montgomery, Sunday and Monday Evenings.

Introducing Tallulah Bankhead and Robert Montgomery—Hollywood's newest combination of screen lovers. They appear together for the first time as co-stars of "Faithless," at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday.

Miss Bankhead was borrowed from Paramount to play the feminine lead in this drama of the penniless rich, based on a story by Mildred Cram. It is her first engagement away from the studio which brought her from the London stage to screen stardom.

Best Suited as Playmate.

To add luster to the occasion, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer selected Robert Montgomery for the jaunty hero of the story. Montgomery recently appeared opposite Marion Davies in "Blondie of the Follies." He has also played leading man to Norma Shearer, Greta Garbo, and Joan Crawford, and stood forth in his studio's opinion as the personality suited as a "playmate" for the exotic Miss Bankhead.

This combination brings together two stars who suggest in the public mind the sense of smartness which the story of "Faithless" requires. It is a romantic tale of two young members of the "idle rich" who become stepchildren of the depression, and find themselves suddenly struggling in the whirlpool of present day economic adversity.

Good Supporting Cast.

A talented cast supports the stars. Included are Hugh Herbert, Maurice Murray, Louise Closser Hale, Anna Appel, Lawrence Grant and Henry Kolker. The picture was directed by Harry Beaumont, who has proved himself an expert on dramas of modern youth with such hits as, "Dance, Fools, Dance," and "Unashamed."

Miss Bankhead displays a variety of elaborate costumes designed for her by Adrian. Pretentious New York and Florida backgrounds in the picture were created by Cedric Gibbons, one of Hollywood's foremost scenic designers.

November Meeting of Central School P.T.A. Was Held Tuesday, 8th.

The November meeting of the Central School P. T. A. was held last Tuesday, November 8th at 3 P. M. in the school auditorium. The executive committee met at Mrs. C. C. Clark's residence prior to the regular meeting to complete plans for the play, "Comic Characters Convention" to be given on November 8th.

A message of inspiration by Mrs. Shipp opened the meeting. Mrs. A. P. Smith discussed the current issue of Child Welfare Magazine calling attention to the help given in choosing the right moving pictures for your children to see. In the absence of the secretary the minutes were read by Mrs. Douglas Bourgeois.

The president's message was read by Mrs. Walsh. The faculty was ably represented by Miss Marie Louise Renaud who gave a most interesting talk, enumerating the different factors which help in developing and enriching the mind of the high school student. She also brought out the importance of the study of mathematics. This study more than any other develops reasoning and accuracy.

Mr. McQueen, supt. of Education, made a very enlightening talk on the Laws for Compulsory Education, which, he stated, have never been enforced because they are not practical.

"THE ALL-AMERICAN" FOOTBALL CLIMAX IS COMING TO A. & G.

Theater on Thursday and Friday of Next Week—Marchmont Schwartz in Cast.

The season's tremendous enthusiasm for football has an ideal outlet in "The All-American," the universal gridiron drama which opens an engagement at the A. & G. Theater on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 24 and 25.

This is declared to be the greatest football picture in the history of the screen, and brings together more than 80 of the game's outstanding stars, as well as a big cast of popular screen players including Richard Arlen, Andy Devine, Gloria Stuart, James Gleason, Preston Foster, June Clyde and John Drew. Last season's All-American team plays as a unit, and their opposition is made up of a score of gridiron heroes of previous years. "Red" Cagle, Ennis Nevers, Marchy Schwartz, Albie Bagoth, Frank Carideo and Jerry Darmyle are among the stars who are seen in hard-fought contests on the football field.

The story of "The All American," which is an absorbing drama quite aside from its football interest, traces the career of Garry King, college gridiron star who is spoiled by the adulation of the multitude and who becomes much less a man after he leaves school. He is brought to his senses when he realizes that his younger brother, who has succeeded him as the star football player of the university, is beginning the same sort of a career.

Bay St. Louis and other local men will view with interest Marchmont Schwartz in the picture.

BAY RAMBLERS WIN THEIR THIRD GAME OF THIS SEASON

(By Cedric Hetzman)

The Bay Ramblers after going down under a defeat last Sunday by the Slidell Bulldogs, came back into action Sunday to defeat John Farmer's Wild Cats of Kiln by the score of 12-0. Captain Ainsworth Kidd worked his team to many a nice play. Those line backs, criss crosses, laterals, passes and end runs worked nicely against the Wild Cats.

The Ramblers played Kiln under the new management of Doc Rhodes who is connected with Pitre's Cafe. Doc has a game carded with Slidell Bulldogs at Slidell because of their not coming to our home town to play us. Next Sunday the Ramblers will journey to Slidell to catch back on their defeat by Slidell. Watch the Ramblers bring back the bacon.

Warren Lareaux was not seen in the lineup against Kiln because of a minor injury.

Officials of Sunday's game follows: Head linesman, P. Garriga; Referee Shorty Lareaux.

Score by quarters:

FOREST SERVICE NEWS

County Educators Aid in Woods Fire Prevention.

Fifty-one County Superintendents of Education in Mississippi are this year cooperating with the Mississippi Forestry Commission in woods fire prevention, according to State Forester Fred Merrill. He says that these Superintendents have ordered 58,975 copies of the bulletin "Woods Fire Everyman's Enemy" for use by their students. Distribution and study of these bulletins will, the Forester believes, aid in maintaining woods fire losses for 1932 at a lower level than in any year since the creation of the State Forestry Commission in 1926.

Forests Conserve Water.

A forest cover on the million or more acres of eroding land in North Mississippi should be most effective in reducing the crest of periodic Delta floods, says State Forester Fred Merrill. He points to the value of forests for feeding underground water supplies and regulating rainfall run-off and stream flow as shown by absorption tests recently conducted by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture. Virgin forest soil at the depth of one inch absorbed forty-six times as much water per minute as soil at the same depth in adjacent fields.

Seed of Black Locust Food For Game Birds.

The many-purpose black locust tree, which has been widely planted in this country, is especially valuable as a producer of winter food for game birds. Its seeds are sought in bad weather by the bobwhite, the Hungarian partridge, and the pheasants, especially in the Northwest, reports the United States Department of Agriculture.

The seeds are rated as one of the more valuable foods for bobwhite, Ruffed grouse, California quail, mourning doves in the West, and several of the larger nongame birds of the East also eat them.

Besides furnishing food for game birds, the black locust tree yields timber for the farmer and nectar for the honey bee. It grows rapidly to post, pole and timber size. Its intricate root system is well adapted for holding soil and checking erosion. As a member of the legume family, the locust tree fixes nitrogen, enriching the soil.

With these several points in its favor, black locust is one of the favorites for planting woodlands, groves, eroded areas, and odd pieces of waste land about the farm.

One-year old black locust seedlings can be obtained from the Mississippi State Forest Service, Jackson. Seedlings cost $2.50 per 1,000—four for a cent—f. o. b. Perkins, Mississippi. Orders for five-hundred or more will receive first attention.

BEAUTIFUL VOICE RESTORED.

After a cessation of six months or more friends of Mrs. H. C. Glover, of Bay St. Louis, are indeed delighted to again hear that glorious and unforgettable voice with which she has so often thrilled and charmed local audiences.

Ceasing to sing was in pursuance to specialists' instruction after it was found her voice had been seriously handicapped. Mrs. Glover is not only a musician but a lover of open door sports and with foot-ball. It is well-known she is the mother of H. C. (Wop) Glover of Tulane last year, and is with justifiable reason her voice joined the roters club to an excess.

Recently at a recital by the Bay St. Louis Music Club, Mrs. Glover gave a vocal rendition of Il Baccio with all the former beauty of her voice of inestimable value.
